

HARRY FOSTER

WEB DEVELOPER

BIO

I'm a developer with experience in both front-end and back-end on a range of different projects.

Projects have included responsive web development and mobile applications.

EMPLOYMENT

2016 – Now THE NEW BLACK
WEB DEVELOPER

At The New Black I am the sole web developer. Over my time at The New Black I have developed and launched a proprietary point of sale till system that runs on iOS, developed and launched a mobile application for customers on both iOS and Android which amongst other functions enables online ordering, created reporting software to monitor and run analytics on the point of sale system and ordering app and maintained and extended the existing website.

Details of projects I undertook at The New Black are available upon enquiry and the ordering application can be viewed on the App Store.

2014 – 2016 APPLE RETAIL
SPECIALIST

Working at the Apple store gave me knowledge on troubleshooting iOS and macOS as well as being able to deal with customers with a variety of needs.
